Why Women Earn Less Than Men.

There are reasons why women are not in very case paid as well as men, and they are arge, economic reasons which deserve conideration. Among them are these: There is indoubtedly a cheaper standard of living unong women than among men; women as class have less good equipment for life work han men because the expectation in many ases is that the work will be interrupted by natrimony; and, most of all, women have oine into the industrial field as a new eenomic factor, and industry has not yet adusted itself to ner. - Forma.

Church Parade Prayer-Books.

A lady of fine artistic taste has discovered that at church parade her prayer-book, by ts incongruous color, entirely ruins the effect of a carefully conceived costume. It struck a discord in an otherwise perfectly harmonious dress. This has been remedied by having a cover to her prayer-book which shall be perfectly in accord with the leading one of her garments. The prayer-book cover will henceforth receive as attentive considera-
